STATE UNIVERSITY OF MONTANA, TUESDAY, JANUARY 30, 1923.

NO. 37

MONTANA WINS TWO AGAINST STATE TEAMS

Downs Mines and Aggies; Will Play Pacific U Friday.

After dropping the first game, the Montana Grizzlies broke into mid-season form and downed the Aggies and the School of Mines last week. Both games against the Aggies went into overtime periods, the score at the end of each being 23-23. The School of Mines game was the fastest basketball contest witnessed in Butte in recent years, according to the Butte Miner, both teams playing in top form.

In the first game against the Aggies, a foul called upon the farmers gave Montana a chance to win the game but the free throw was missed and the score stood 23-23. In the overtime period Bozeman annexed a basket and a foul shot, Montana scored a free throw, making the final score 24 to 27. At the end of the second game Montana missed another foul shot and the score stood 23-23 but in the overtime period the Grizzlies held the dairymen scoreless, winning 30-23. The game against the Miners was fast from the start, with the final score 27-16 in favor of the Grizzlies.

February 2 and 3, the University will battle with Pacific University at Missoula. The Coasters are the latest addition to the Conference, and are considered as the strongest of the smaller schools in the Northwest. There are about 150 enrolled in the institution.

Last fall their football team put up a gallant fight against the strong Oregon eleven. If they turn out as good a basketball team the Grizzlies five will have a hard encounter.

The Montana aggregation, fresh from their victories over the Aggies and the Miners, are out to hang up the scalps of the west coast gang, and add more games to the win column, and also break into the win column of the standing of the conference teams.

DATE ANNOUNCED FOR DIRECTORS ELECTION

Matthews Named as Faculty Member; Rooney Urges All Students To Vote.

An important student election will be held Tuesday, February 6, to fill the vacancies now existing on the A. S. U. M. store board. Five candidates have received the nomination of the central board, three of which will be elected.

Professor Robert E. Matthews, of the law school, has filled the position of faculty member on the store board so far this year, being appointed to serve through the unexpired term of Professor Lewis M. Simes. Professor Matthews is the only nominee for this office now.

Ruth Dougherty and Helen Newman are candidates to fill the vacancy created by the withdrawal of Lois James from the board. The successful candidate in this case will automatically become secretary of the board. The other vacancy created by the graduation of Joe Kershner, will be filled by either Delbert Cawley or Cliff Ellis.

"It is of the utmost importance that the students take an active interest in this election, and that they go to the polls with a clear sense of duty to the school and vote for the persons who will, in their minds, do the greatest justice to this work," said Harry Rooney, chairman of the board, yesterday evening. The voting hours will be from nine in the morning till five in the evening, including the noon hour, in the Main hall.

DR. MATTHEWS TO ORGANIZE STATE CHICAGO U GRADS

Country-wide Tour is Being Made in Interests of Chicago U.

Dr. Shaler Matthews, dean of the school of divinity at the University of Chicago, will address the alumni of that institution in Missoula soon. No date has been set for the meeting, but the purpose will be to organize a Montana alumni association to assist in the building up of the University of Chicago.

Dr. Matthews is making a tour of the country in the interest of the university and will arrange for the meetings when he arrives in this city. Many University of Chicago alumni reside in Missoula and there are said to be several hundred living in the state. Dr. L. G. Dunlop of Anaconda is state organizer for the proposed association.

Dr. Matthews is father of Robert Matthews, professor in the school of law.

UNIVERSITY DEBATES W.S.C. FEBRUARY 10

Murphy and Johnson Go to Pullman; O'Connor and Niles Home Speakers.

Clyde Murphy, Grover Johnson, Russell Niles and Miles O'Connor will represent the University in debate with Washington State College, February 10. The affirmative of the question "Resolved that the several states should establish industrial courts with powers to enforce their decisions for the adjudication of labor disputes in essential industries," will be upheld on that evening in Pullman by Grover Johnson and Clyde Murphy while Miles O'Connor and Russell Niles speaking in the order named, will uphold the negative side of the same question here at the high school auditorium.

This debate will be the first on a schedule now being decided upon with Washington State, Gonzaga and Idaho. Later in February a state tour will be made by the debate teams of Missoula and Bozeman. Arrangements for this trip are now being made by Professor John T. Chadwell who has been training the men.

DR. CHARLES U. CLARK CONVOCATION SPEAKER

Dr. Charles U. Clark discussed the European situation at Convocation this morning. Mr. Clark was formerly a professor at Yale and later became associated with the American Academy in Rome. He spent last year in Europe engaged in an intensive study of conditions in the various countries there. He is here under the auspices of the University.

In addressing the class studying Inter-Relations yesterday, he spoke on the Eastern problem, saying: "The European situation is more muddled now than at the time just previous to the World War. However, Bulgaria is now in a better economic situation and the population is of a higher cast." He pointed to the situation confronting Serbia and Bulgaria in regard to the possibility of their seizure of the lower Balkan region, which would result in another serious controversy.

FORESTRY KAIMIN READY NEXT FRIDAY

The Forestry Kaimin is now off the press and will be ready for distribution the end of this week according to Dean Skeels, faculty editor.

The book has been published earlier this year to be in readiness for the national convention of forestry clubs which is to take place sometime during February.

Copies will be on sale at the student book store.

SENTINEL STAFF MEETS.

Sentinel subscriptions are not coming in as fast as they should be, according to William Aho, business manager of the Sentinel. He states that not one-half of the students have subscribed. At a Sentinel staff meeting held Friday afternoon at five o'clock the question of dedicating the annual was discussed but no decision was made.

MYSTERIOUS HANDBILLS.

Handbills upon which were inscribed a large question mark and the inscription "February 1" were mysteriously distributed between halves of the interfraternity game last night.

At the time the teams stopped playing, the gymnasium lights were turned off for a few seconds and when they were lighted again spectators found many handbills fluttering through the air.

Students seem to connect the occurrence with the appearance of the red-robed men at the last interfraternity game.

ENGLISH 62 TO PRESENT TWO PLAYS AT FLORENCE

One-Act Plays to be Produced by Mary Flemming, Jack Stone and Marjorie Bullock.

Two one-act plays produced by the class in English 62 have been selected by Roger Williams, coach of dramatics, to be presented at Florence the first week in February.

"Where But in America," by Oscar M. Wolff, the satire on the American servant problem which was presented at convocation last Tuesday is one of the plays. The play was produced by Madeline Turk. The members of the cast are Wynema Woolverton, Mabelle Winchester and Joe Sweeney.

The other play is "Modesty" by Paul Hervieu, which is being directed by Mattie Grace Sharpe. This play was given before the English 62 class last Thursday. Mrs. Mathilda Bagen, Duncan McMillan and Stewart Lemon compose the cast.

Three other one-act plays are now in rehearsal under the direction of English 62 class. They are "Suppressed Desires," directed by Marjorie Bullock, Barrie's "Twelve Pound Look" directed by Mary Fleming and "The Mountains," by Thomas Wolfe and Roger Williams under the direction of Jack Stone.

These one-act plays will be presented before invited audiences in groups of three from time to time. A few students interested in production may be admitted to the Thursday rehearsals before English 62 on application to Mr. Williams.

New Members Admitted and Higher Educational Standards Approved.

C. N. Leaphart, dean of the Law school of the University, and E. M. Tucker, a graduate of the law school, were elected vice-presidents of the Fourth Judicial District Bar Association at a meeting held in Missoula Saturday afternoon.

New members who were taken into the association included Robert E. Matthews, professor of law at the University, Captain W. K. Brown and George Shepard, both graduates of the University law school. Honor guests included E. M. Tucker, M. H. Colvin, professor of the law school, and E. L. Platt, graduate of the law school.

The association adopted a resolution at its meeting approving the action of the American Bar association in its move for higher standards of legal requirements for the practice of law, two years of college work prior to a three-year legal course.

The Missoula Gas company presented the Home Economics department with a white enameled gas range.

KARNAKS GRANTED ALPHA TAU OMEGA

Installation of Chapter Will Take Place in Two Months.

Karnak Klub, a local fraternity on the campus, received a telegram Monday afternoon from Alpha Tau Omega, national fraternity, stating that they had been granted a chapter of the national fraternity. This is the last step necessary before the actual installation of the chapter which is expected to take place within two months.

Alpha Tau Omega was founded in 1865 at Richmond, Virginia, and is generally regarded as one of the strongest national fraternities. It has 78 active chapters, and the Karnak Klub will make the 79th, or Delta Xi chapter.

THEY'RE HITTING THEIR STRIDE

Coach Stewart's basketball aggregation took the second game of the series from the Aggies last Friday night. The following evening they defeated the Miners at Butte, in a game that was, according to witnesses, a demonstration of real basketball.

These two games give the Grizzlies a running start for the state championship, especially since the returning games, with the exception of one, are to be played on our own floor.

With good support from the entire school the team can yet develop into one which conference teams will fear when they come here to defend their standings.

Go over to the gym and watch the fellows work out, it will do you good, it will do them good.

BOO!

We think it is a joke. The mysterious appearance of the four red night-shirt men who kidnaped the Yell King last Thursday night between halves of the inter-fraternity game seems to be a campus stunt and not worthy of the seriousness that certain local and state papers are giving it.

It was done cleverly. It created a sensation, for it has been a long time since the student body has been so interested in one thing.

As to the various theories regarding the occurrence we might suggest that it was a bunch of faculty members dressed up like grade points, trying to impress on students, that night was the time to study instead of attending basketball games. However, the Grand and Exalted Hob-Goblin certainly did know his Satanic stuff.

DO YOU GET YOUR MAIL?

"There is a letter for you on the bulletin board." This statement is one that may be heard many times every day on the campus. The antiquated wire rack and the narrow shelf below it have to serve as a postoffice for the mail and University notices that are sent to organizations and students on the campus.

Many times the rack and shelf are so loaded with letters that some will fall to the floor. Is it not possible to handle the mail in a better way? Why not have the rack used for University notices only and have all of the mail that arrives by post distributed from the telephone booth. Certainly there is some way that present arrangement can be improved.

DAVENPORTS FOR THE GYM?

While we are talking about supporting the basketball team, it brings to mind the gigantic demonstration that was held at the depot Sunday morning when the team came back. It certainly must have been impressive from the standpoint of the passengers on the train who were going through Missoula.

Five bandsmen who happened to think about the team returning turned out, and although their music lacked volume it was at least present. The bad feature was the fact that the caption on the drum read: "Grizzly Band." It must have been amusing to passengers to see five men constituting the band of the largest educational institution in the state.

But don't think that the band was the only feature of the demonstration. Gracious, no! There were two Inter-collegiate Knights present to police the student body which had assembled. The student body stood directly behind the band, with both hands in his pockets, as it was rather a crimping morning.

And at least five hundred students were out at the recent inter-fraternity games.

Let's demand that the players on the Varsity turn in an apology to the students for composing a school team, and then those five bandsmen, two Knights, and the other fellow won't have to bother about meeting a train.

Exchanges

Girls' classes in horse back riding are held at the University of Washington.

There are 176 students from foreign countries attending the University of Washington.

The University of Idaho is working out an honor system.

Pacific University at Forest Grove will be here to play February 2 and 3. There are only 150 enrolled in the institution but they are said to be all good.

Josephine Arnquist, a graduate of the State College of Washington, will represent America in Europe demonstrating home economics extension work.

"What Kind of a Student Body Have We" is the subject of President Suzzalo's address to the first all-student gathering of 1923 on the University of Washington campus.

A chess club, composed of 20 devotees of the game has been organized on the Washington State College campus. Its membership is composed of students and faculty interested in the game. It is the first organization of its kind to appear there.

Of the 725 women students attending Washington State, approximately 30 per cent are earning at least a part of their expenses while there.

Of these, 38 per cent are doing stenographic work for various departments of the college and the other 62 per cent are engaged in other work such as library and helping in the private homes.

Of the total enrollment at Washington State this semester 115 students come from 15 outside states, and 28 from five foreign countries. King county, home of the University of Washington, sends 118 students this semester.

Equipped with an entirely new program the women's glee club of Washington State College will start on its second annual tour of the state on March 9. The club this year is composed of 16 members and will be accompanied by a five-piece orchestra.

Word has just been received that Washington State has been granted a charter in Tau Beta Pi, national honorary engineering fraternity. The petitioning group is composed of 26 students and three faculty members and was organized for the express purpose of petitioning Tau Beta Pi.

Tau Beta Pi is the largest of the honorary engineering fraternities and its members are selected on a scholarship basis only. It was founded at Lehigh University in 1885. Chapters are installed in colleges and universities of recognized merit only in engineering circles.

MORTAR BOARD TEA.

Many a lad gets knocked for a goal in some of these basketball games and it doesn't count two points either.

There is a rumor about the campus that a student met the Varsity at the depot Sunday morning.

Now we see why they call it the student "body."

Lay Off, McDuff.

They told us not to razz the curve, "Lay off the Dean of Men. Those grading jokes are getting old. Lay off," they said, and then

We had to scratch and scratch the head

In search of something new; At last we saw the light of day— We thought sure it would do.

"The R. O. T. C. must have its joke. It ought to take up space." But then we got another blow, A slapping in the face.

"Please don't razz the Grand Army, It isn't quite polite." So now we'll take back all we've said, At last we'll see the light.

We'll grind no more on the Boy Scout gang—

We don't mean to treat 'em rough. (But just between you and us) Sherman knew his' stuff.

She says that some of the men she has asked to the Co-ed Prom have been awful decent about it.

"We have a strong organization," said the head of the Polecat family.

We think our landlady is the one that left us the hand bills last night. She probably wants us to have the rent ready on time this month.

THE LOW DOWN

NO. 6, MRS. LECLAIRE.

In spite of the great respect due to the medical profession, it seems only fitting and proper that its members' shortcomings be put before the public eyeball. Let us here put you wise to Mrs. LeClaire, the University nurse.

Mrs. LeClaire is the one that gets away with the two-dollar health fee three times a year. Of course, she furnishes aspirin, capsules, pills, and cough medicine to the entire campus, pays for a few appendix removals, settles the small bills with the doctors downtown, but anyone can see that the greater part of it is pure velvet.

But the big complaint against Mrs. LeClaire is her Gibraltar-like resistance to all requests and pleadings for prescriptions. But, perhaps, Mrs. LeClaire has her reasons. Perhaps she has figured out that to give out a few prescriptions would mean an added expense in the way of headache tablets the following day.

We're not trying to sling mud at our nurse. That isn't necessary. She uses some sort of Bonacilla mud as a face massage. That's the report, at least. Now here's something and it's true: Mrs. LeClaire was taking her mud bath one morning, now some time past, when she heard the doorbell ring. Since she was sure that all the bills had been paid for the month, she answered the ring immediately and did not, for an instant, remember the paste on her face till she had opened the door and saw the look of surprise on her caller's face. Then she realized it. But Mrs. LeClaire is tactful. Anyone who can visit a fraternity house on a sick call and get by like one of the brothers would not be taken aback by a little thing like this.

"Is Mrs. LeClaire in?" asked the stranger, addressing the Williams shaving soap ad in the doorway.

"No, sir," came the reply. "She's out shopping, but will be back at noon."

And there you are. Prescriptions or Denver mud, you can't put it over on our Nurse.

Communication

To the Kaimin Editor:

Comment and speeches on the campus and among campus organizations, concerning the Honor system, so far have been confined mostly to its merits. I believe it would be well for the students and faculty to give very serious consideration to the weaknesses of the system and weigh both sides well before any definite decision is made.

I want to state first that I am in favor of an Honor system. Whether it is to be under the discretion of the deans of the various schools; whether it is to apply to the entire student body; whether it is to take in only the two upper classes at first and later the underclassmen; or in any other suggested manner, I believe it should be adopted.

The law school examinations are given under the Honor system here as they are in nearly every college, and it works very well. But that is because HONOR is one of the chief attributes of the profession itself, as it is of most professions, and also because the students are older and regard their grades as a mere by-product of what they know.

Will this work out in the student body generally? Will the student who is sure of getting a "flock" of A's and B's in all but one subject, and is afraid of a D or an E in that course, refuse to "hook a ride on a pony" to carry him onto the honor roll?

But that is only a minor question. The two chief issues, I believe, will be:

1. If a student cheats, WHO is going to report him and to whom; and what will the penalty be?

2. The co-operation of EVERY faculty member in breeding HONOR into the Honor system in their every-day class work.

Various methods of having students put a stop to, or report any cheating during examinations have been suggested, but each has its serious faults. If a student is to be reported, why not have a faculty member in the room and save any disagreeable circumstance? And if the cheater is to be merely stopped and warned, who is to be the self-appointed proctor? For if a proctor be appointed by any authority it would lead to a suspicious spy-system which would be devoid of any semblance of honor.

There are many instructors who can and do leave their class rooms now, after giving out their questions in an examination, and they leave it with the utmost confidence that no underhanded work will be done. Seldom, if at all, is this confidence misplaced.

But therein lies the weakest link of the system, for ALL of the faculty members do not create this atmosphere of confidence and co-operation. The students sit through their daily classes like caged birds under the eyes of a cat, their ears trained only for the bell that will let them scramble out of the door. And when an exam comes they will do anything to get through and have the course over with.

The Honor system, if it comes, must come openly and whole-heartedly from within each student, and from within each and every member on the faculty. It is simply a question of faith and a square deal.

But after all, why is an exam anyway? ECK.

Winners to Meet Sigma Chi for Championship Thursday.

The Phi Delta Theta quintet won the championship of League B by defeating the Sigma Phi Epsilon team last night 26 to 15, in a game that was closely contested for three quarters.

Baney started the scoring with a short toss soon after the first whistle. Smith, a new man for the Phi Deltas, when he slipped in one from the sidelines. The fast basket shooters of Omega Xi defeated the Alpha Phi basketball team in a hard fought but one-sided game last Friday evening by a score of 38 to 2. All the players on the Omega Xi team were members of the Craig hall team which last year won the championship. They show evidences of good coaching, and have the team work which only one or two seasons play can give. Amanda Valikanje, playing forward and then shifting to guard, starred for her team.

AGGIE STUDENTS WANT STRAW HATS RETURNED

"I'd like to locate two straw hats that were lost Homecoming Day," said Roger Deeney, ex-stunt duke, last evening.

"The hats are the property of students at the Montana State College, and are placed at a high valuation. They have written me several letters in an effort to recover them. If anyone knows their whereabouts, I wish they would notify me at once."

The hats, according to Deeney, were used in the stunt that the Aggies put on between halves of Homecoming Day.

Miss Dorothy Burke of Polson spent Saturday and Sunday with her sister Ruth at Craig hall.

MRS. LOUISE ARNOLDSON WILL TRANSLATE VERSE

Mrs. Louise Arnoldson of the modern language department has been asked to make an English translation of French verse by Professor Louis Cons of Princeton university.

Mrs. Arnoldson studied under Professor Cons at Berkeley last summer. While there she showed him two of her translations of Verlaine's poems which he praised and kept. In his letter he says:

"In arranging my papers I have just found again and re-read the two poems you translated from Verlaine. 'From a Prison' and 'Rose Laughter,' and I found them so beautiful, so faithful, that I cannot resist the pleasure of telling you so and the impulse of asking you why you do not undertake a more complete translation of Verlaine for English readers."

Louis Cons is assistant professor of French at Princeton university and an officer of the French Academie. He is the author of "De Goethe, a Bismarck" and "Psychologie de la Religion." Last summer he was the visiting professor for graduate courses at Berkeley.

Mrs. Arnoldson has already translated eight poems. Some of these were done in 1914. The two that Professor Cons has were written four years ago.

CHRISTIANITY AND ETHICS DISCUSSED AT U CHURCH

Professor Clark's Class Tries to Apply Bible Lessons.

"What do we really mean by some of the fundamental matters in our Christian and ethical thinking?" This is the question under consideration by a class conducted by Professor W. P. Clark in the University church. Mr. Clark said that the discussions have no restrictions; each member is free to express any ideas on the subject.

The next meeting will be held Sunday, at 12 following the sermon in the University church. The topic will be: "What significance has the Bible for us today?"

The class is fundamentally for students who are seeking some guide for modern life and problems, according to Professor Clark.

RAMSKILL'S LOGGING CLASS VISITS A. C. M. LUMBER CAMP

Professor Ramskill and his logging class made a trip last Wednesday to an abandoned lumber camp above Twin creeks.

The trip was made by trucks to Twin creek and then the class hiked back in the woods four miles.

The purpose of the trip was to instruct the class in timber skids, how they are made, and what percentages of grade are used.

DRAWINGS TO BE FRAMED.

In preparation for an exhibition, the art department is framing the best drawings the students produce this year. A pastel drawing by May Meckling is the first to be framed. "Pastel drawing," according to Mrs. Bateman, art instructor, "is gaining popularity all over." It is being taught here this quarter.

Robert MacHatton, who graduated last year from the School of Journalism, is employed on the official news bureau.

The Engineering in a Curling Iron

What sort of engineering is it that makes a study of the needs and the interests of women and creates products to satisfy them? Does it seem that, in practice at least, this sort of thing is a little different from your understanding of what an engineer really is and does?

After all, when you come to think of it, engineering is concerned with all the facts of life. It takes the old facts and interprets them in new and broader ways; but its big job is the very big job of making more living, —fuller living,—readily available. It is, in every aspect, a thing worth doing, whether it concerns itself with curling irons or converters, or any of the thousands of products in between.

This is truly the day of the engineer. His judgments and his equipment are sought in almost every phase of living. Engineering is remaking the business of housekeeping. Its methods are being applied to merchandising, to distribution, to the wrapping of bundles and the packing of boxes, to the lighting of streets and the hundreds of things that, a few years back, were strictly "rule-of-thumb". By the time you are at work out in the world, there will be more—though there are only a few of them left.

Whatever is worth doing is worth engineering; engineering effort dignifies itself. Whether it puts more usefulness into transformers or curling irons or turbines does not matter. The thing that counts is the work, the creative, constructive service that is going on for the lasting benefit of mankind.
